

Audi A3 8P MY10

Description

In 2010 when this Audi A3 convertible came out it would have cost you around $45K and now they are such amazing value for money especially this one with just under 60,000 klms since new. It has the very reliable manual transmission, an electric soft top which is in wonderful condition and being black with charcoal grey interior it’s certainly a hot looking car for this time of year to be getting around in. It has a very nice set of alloy wheels, service books and we are going to send it to an Audi specialist here in Sydney for a full check over and a service prior to it being sold. These are a great little car to drive and use up very little fuel. Please come and check it out in person and we look forward to meeting you soon.
