1973 Jaguar XJ6 Series I 4.2 – One Owner From New | A Time Capsule

It is exceptionally rare to find a motor vehicle that has remained with one owner from new for over fifty years, and rarer still to find one preserved in such extraordinary condition.

Finished in a beautiful Olive Green with an exquisite chocolate brown leather interior, this 1973 Jaguar XJ6 Series I is nothing short of remarkable. Having been meticulously maintained, always garaged, and cherished throughout its life, it presents as a genuine time capsule.

The originality of this car is simply breathtaking. Every piece of chrome gleams beautifully, the rubber seals remain supple and remarkably well preserved, every switch and control operates with the reassuring feel of a car that has led a pampered existence, and the interior has developed the kind of rich, authentic patina that simply cannot be recreated.

Powered by Jaguar's legendary 4.2-litre twin-cam six-cylinder engine coupled to a smooth automatic transmission, the XJ6 was regarded by many as the finest luxury saloon of its era, combining effortless performance with timeless British elegance.

Finding another Series I XJ6 in this condition, with this provenance and ownership history, would be incredibly difficult. It is a car that will appeal equally to collectors, Jaguar enthusiasts and anyone who appreciates originality over restoration.

Offered for $29,950, this is a rare opportunity to own one of the finest original Series I Jaguar XJ6s you are likely to encounter.

Inspections are warmly welcomed, but be prepared—you may never have seen one quite like this.
