

Mercedes-Benz SL350 R230

Description

Examples like this stunning update 2004 Mercedes-Benz SL350 are increasingly rare. Having travelled only 91,120 kilometres with accompanying documentation, this high spec grand tourer is just under a quarter of its original $200K plus sticker price and we are so thrilled to be offering it for sale. The SL needs no introduction and has a huge following around the world, the R230 series was the first all new SL since the R129 which debuted in 1989 and ran until 2001, as a result this SL is packed with high end 21st century innovation. A folding Vario hardtop separates this sports car from normal convertibles. The car retains all the rigidity, practicality and security of a hardtop with the enjoyment of open roof motoring at the touch of a button. Mercedes-Benz Command Navigation, Power seats, xenon headlights, automatic windows, dual-zone climate and so much more. The buttery smooth 3.7 litre V6 is incredible to drive, very quick with over 180KW and without the fuel guzzling consumption of the 5.0 litre variant. If you are after a truly special car that has the curb appeal and respect of everybody that looks at it, then it is hard to go past an SL Mercedes. There is always high demand for these cars and they hold their value on the pre-owned market like the sought after collectible vehicles they are. A true modern classic, this Zircon Silver example with grey leather is one of the lowest Klm examples for sale on the market and we truly do get excited by cars of this calibre and expect it to hold its value very well in the years to come. The log book history from new is absolutely perfect with every single service being carried out either at a
