1968 MG C Roadster – 6 Cylinder

A rare opportunity to acquire an exceptionally well-preserved and beautifully presented 1968 MG C Roadster, finished in classic black with a contrasting light grey interior.

The MGC was produced in relatively small numbers and remains one of the most distinctive and desirable members of the classic MG family. Powered by the larger six-cylinder engine, the MGC offered considerably more performance than the familiar MGB while retaining the traditional British roadster character that made these cars so popular.

This particular example has a wonderful history, having been owned by the same lady for approximately 35 years. Prior to her ownership, the car belonged to an upholsterer, which perhaps helps explain the exceptional standard to which the interior has been restored and maintained.

The quality of this MGC has been recognised within the marque, having received more than one MG concours award. It presents to an extremely high standard throughout and would suit an enthusiast looking for a car that can be proudly displayed, enjoyed on club outings or simply preserved as an increasingly collectible classic.

Features and highlights include:

Rare 1968 MGC six-cylinder Roadster
Black exterior with light grey interior
Approximately 35 years in the same ownership
Multiple MG concours award winner
Restored interior
New soft top
MOMO timber steering wheel
Matching timber gear knob
Traditional wire wheels
Brand-new Pirelli tyres
Battery isolator switch
Twin exhaust system
Distinctive MGC bonnet bulge/scallop identifying the six-cylinder model
Beautifully detailed and maintained throughout
Chassis No. GCN1U77609

The MGC occupies an interesting position in MG history. Its muscular six-cylinder engine, distinctive bonnet treatment and relatively limited production separate it from the much more common MGB, and excellent examples are becoming increasingly difficult to find.

With its exceptional long-term ownership, concours history, outstanding presentation and desirable colour combination, this is the type of MGC that should continue to appeal strongly to collectors.
